

Ideas for Short Walks around Tadcaster - Number 5

Stutton and Brant Lane

2 miles : 1 hour

Pack : binoculars to view Tadcaster and York Minster
The route can be adapted for pushchairs and wheelchairs

The walk starts from Woodlands, the parade of shops on Stutton Road. There are convenient bus stops near the shops. Walk towards Stutton. Pass The Fairway on your left and then take the footpath on the left that goes diagonally through the housing estate and then under the A64 to take you to Stutton. This follows the old railway line.

At the crossroads in Stutton go straight on down Church Crescent. Passing the old St Aidan's clapperboard church, turn right into Maltkiln Terrace. For a shorter walk or if you have a pushchair or wheelchair, you can go straight on here up Fanny Lane.

For the longer walk turn left up Brant Lane which becomes a cinder track part way up the hill.

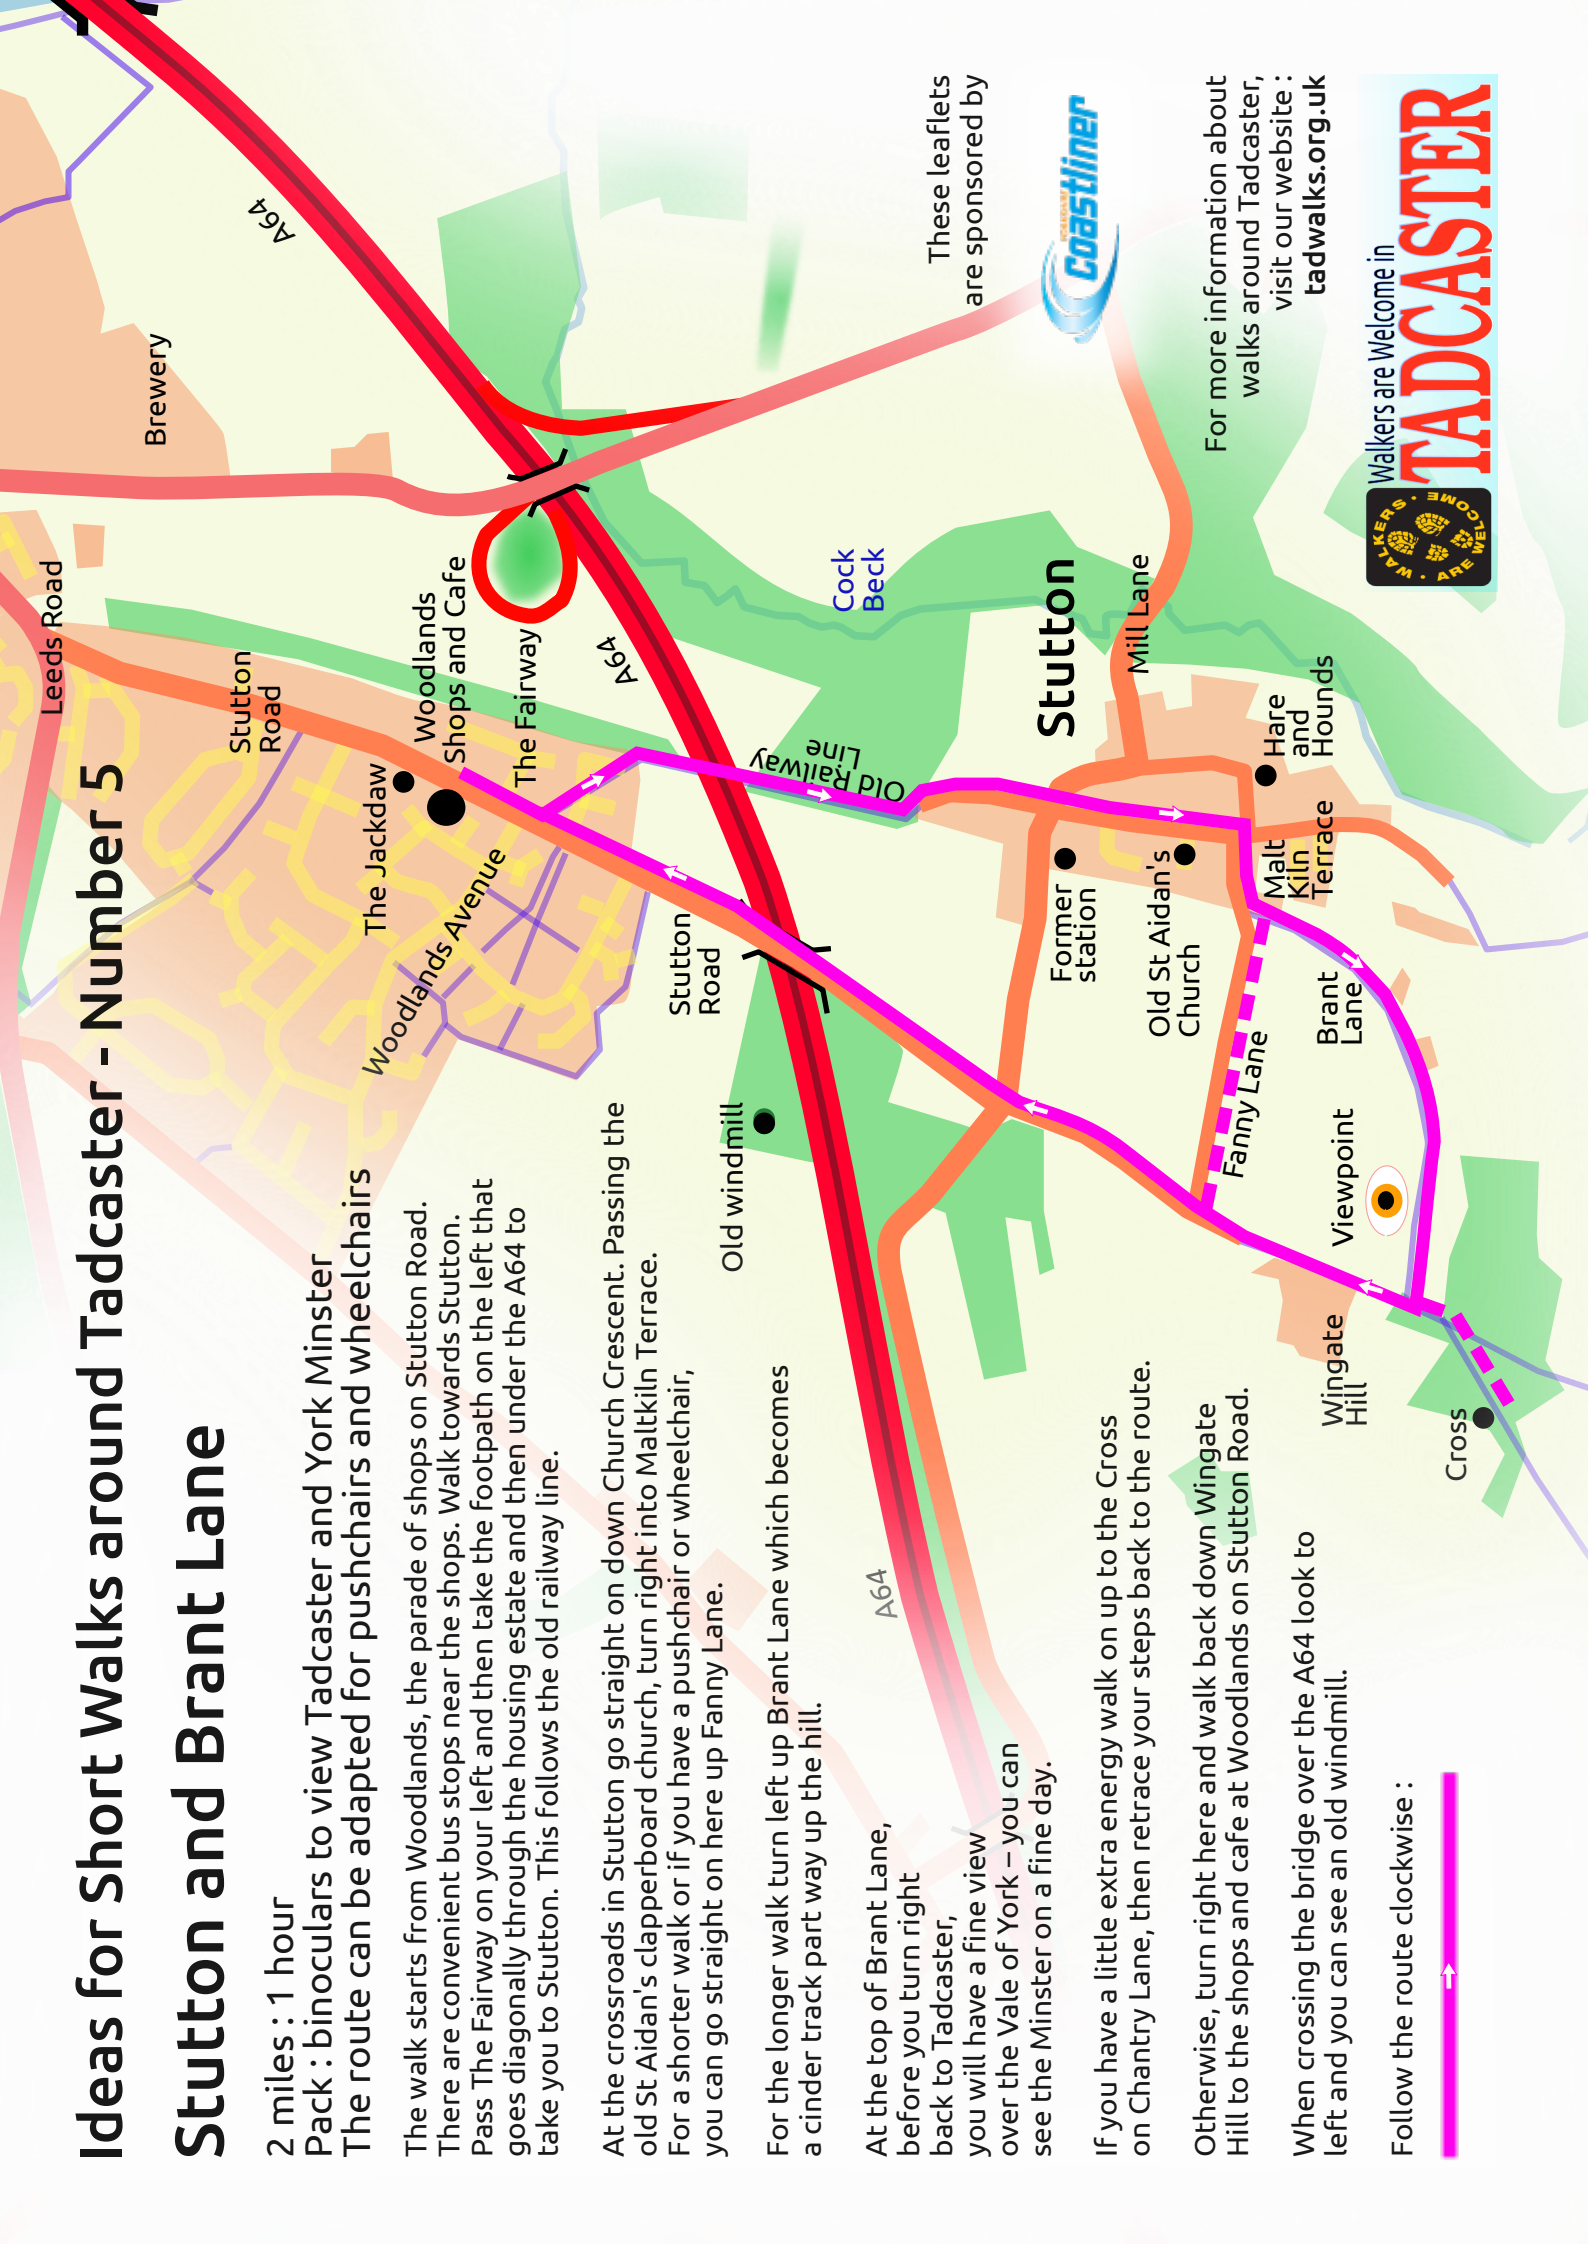

At the top of Brant Lane, before you turn right back to Tadcaster, you will have a fine view over the Vale of York – you can see the Minster on a fine day.

If you have a little extra energy walk on up to the Cross on Chantry Lane, then retrace your steps back to the route.

Otherwise, turn right here and walk back down Wingate Hill to the shops and cafe at Woodlands on Stutton Road.

When crossing the bridge over the A64 look to left and you can see an old windmill.
